Vendoosa – The ancient and time honored practice of clearing the mind and soul, removing infection, virus and evil spirits through the use of heat and suction.

Vendooza – A dynamic, straight ahead rock band from Chicago that drives away boredom and evil spirits through the use of high-energy urban-rock music.

With their influences firmly entrenched in classic British and American rock and R&B, Vendooza's members came to the forefront and gained immense popularity playing in some of the earliest bands to come from the Chicago “Punk/New Wave” scene in the mid to late 1970’s. Lead singer Dave Springer with Tu Tu and the Pirates and The Sharks, Guitarist Terry Fox with Clox, Bassist Jimmy Demonte with the Swingers and B.B. Spin, Guitarist Tony Karagas also with Tu Tu, and The Sharks and Drummer Jeff Wilson played in the neo-glam band Victoria, which became the renowned T. Rex tribute band, Futuristic Dragon.

Vendooza's music is direct and to the point and the lyrics reflect the urban experience of the 21st Century. Their professionalism and combined experience makes for concise, yet spontaneously arranged songs that are meant to be played live and enjoyed in any fashion. Dave Springer’s on-stage performance is [and always has been] cutting edge and highly exciting.

Individually, the members have all held critical positions in the “second coming” of the Chicago music scene. While Terry Fox and Dave Springer were promoting guerilla loft concerts in the Randolph/Fulton Market area during the mid-70’s and Terry was also managing and booking bands in the earliest “Punk” clubs like O’Banion’s and Tut’s.

Each member of Vendooza evolved with the changing musical landscape that developed in the 80’s and then into the 90’s and beyond. Bassist Jimmy Demonte has been the mainstay of the rhythm section of the celebrated Chicago band, The Insiders, for over 15 years. Tony Karagas was the mainstay rockin’ guitarist that catapulted Tu Tu and the Pirates sonic assault. They are not just musicians; they are professionals with a desire to perform spontaneously with total precision.

Listen to Vendooza's music and judge for yourself. This stuff rocks and you won’t be disappointed by their ability to promote a show and fill the room.
